“I like tax planning because every client’s return is unique, offering a different set of challenges to solve.”

Jeff is a 1979 graduate of the University of Minnesota in Duluth. While attending the university, his favorite classes were in the area of taxation.

To this day, complex taxes for closely-held businesses are his specialty. He truly enjoys advising clients with their accounting and tax planning needs.

As the Partner of the Apple Valley office, Jeff is the primary contact for client relations and mentoring staff. He oversees the daily operations of that location.

Jeff spends his spare time with family activities and landscaping his yard.
